Hurricane Preparedness

Peak hurricane season is upon us and we need to be sure we are prepared. While the implementation of hurricane preparedness activities is usually a last minute effort, there should be no short cuts in our safety processes and procedures. Below are a few very important reminders pertaining to hurricane preparation.

Hurricane Preparation Reminders:

- Ensure that all objects at risk of flying or becoming a dropped object are adequately secured.
- Make sure the method you are using to secure these objects are strong enough to sustain high winds and weather.
- Review customer requirements and procedures for tying down methods and follow them accordingly.
- Ensure that you have all supplies necessary on hand now BEFORE an emergency occurs.
